

The following was received from Mr. Glenn Smith and is self explanatory.

I am a member of the Universal Ship Cancellation Society (USCS), which is an international organization of 1200+ men and women, founded in 1932, who collect naval covers (postal pieces cancelled aboard Navy & Coast Guard ships and Marine Corps bases). We are committed to keeping alive the histories of the fine ships of our Navy, Marine Corps, & Coast Guard team, and the men & women who serve in them.

Attached are scans of four Wisconsin covers, and I thought that perhaps some of your shipmates might enjoy seeing them. In fact, some of the attendees at your reunion may well be responsible for some of this mail.

To learn more about our society, please visit our web site at: www.uscs.org. If anyone wants more information about collecting naval covers and the USCS, they may contact me directly.

Another web site that might be interesting to some of your shipmates is the Naval Cover Museum (<http://www.navalcovermuseum.org/>), which is an on-line collection of naval covers, and Battleship Wisconsin has its own page there. Just click on "Enter the New Museum," and then put Wisconsin in the search block, and it will pop up!

Best regards,

Glenn Smith

Dear Helen, Tuesday, Aug 14

We sail for New York tomorrow morning.

Halifax was a swell port. Sunday I went canoeing right past the tower on the other side. It is cooler up here than it is down there. Maybe I'll see you soon.
